Emily Chamlee-Wright : The Cultural Foundations of Economic Development: Urban Female Entrepreneurship in Ghana (Routledge Foundations of the Market Economy) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Cultural Foundations of Economic Development:

Urban Female Entrepreneurship in Ghana (Routledge Foundations of the Market Economy):

Chalmlee-Wright argues that international aid programmes have often been unsuccessful because they are imported. The economics of the Austrian School provide a far stronger theoretical framework which can introduce cultural analysis into questions of economic development and other market processes.

'This is a good and serious contribution to the debate on economic development in Ghana and on the Austrian school more generally, which deserves to be widely read.' - Modern African Studies, Vol 36, No. 4 98
